The Harpooner's Story.

Meto Bedyord, Jane 1, 1883.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.—Twenry years ago I was a harpooner in the North Pacific, when a free chere of the crew and myself were had up with scurvy. Our bodies were blanted, guns a wollen and theeding, teeth loose, purple blotches all over us, and cur breath seemed rotten. Take it by and argu we were petty hadly off. All our limedation was accidentally destroyed, but the captain had a couple dozen betties of Argus Edwardshallas and gave us that. We recovered on it quicker than I have ever seen men broughtabent by any other treatment for Scury, and I conseen a good deal of it. Seeding no measure in the seen a good deal of it. Seeding no measure in the seen and seed deal of the seed a good feat for the seen and seed the first.

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early starces of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, saye life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Brouchitis, Fneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maiadles. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the euroof Coids and Influenza, allments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not wasto preclous time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the specifiest and most certain to cure,

The Court of Alabama Claims. WASHINGTON, ID. C., October 6 .- On the reassembling of the Court of Alabama Claims yesterday, Presiding Judge

Harlan said: "It is obvious that the 1,466 remaining cases can not be properly adjudicated, the baterest computed, and lists of judg-ments compared and certified to the Secretary of State within the seventyfour working days remaining, without extraordinary efforts on the part of the court, its officers and employes, and also on the part of the counsel for claimunts. But with such efforts and co-operation, the court thinks it will be possible to achieve this result. In view of the great hardship which would accrue by a further postponement to many thousands of legal claimants, who have already waited long for their just dues, the tourt feels compelled to adopt and to nigldly enforce the most stringent rules consistent with justice and the usage of courts to hearn the trial and design of courts. ngos of courts, to hasten the trial and de termination of causes; and on its own part to devote all the time within the limits of physical endurance, without reference to the usual hours for office work, in the endeavor to complete this work prior to the date named " After stating certain requirements which counsel for the claimants would be expected to observe in order to facilitate business. Judge Hurian continued:
"In the opinion of the Court, after careful consideration, it will be impossi-

Signal Service at Home and Abroad, WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6 -General Hazen, Chief Signal officer, has returned from his trip to Europe. His admination for our Signal Service was not lessened by a comparison with the service of European companies. He says the conditions in the country are most savorable to an accurate test and rapid development of a system of weather pre-dictions. This view he bases on the great expanse of country and its climatic conditions, affording a vast field for study and experiment, and its complete

One of the principal objects of his European trip was to attend the International Meteorological Congress at Paris. The object of this conference was to bring about greater uniformity in the methods of making weather predictions in different countries, and much was ac complished in this direction. Genera Hazen says his inspection of the methods pursued in European countries suggesti minor changes in our system. New Play and New Play-House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6 .- The new National Theater was inaugurated last night by M'lle. Rhea in a new play entitled "Lady Ashley," by two Chicago journalists, Messrs. Barron and Bates. rompt Action of the Newfoundland Government in Sending Supplies to the Sufferers.

OTTAWA, ONT., October 6 .- It has been officially announced here that the Labrador fisherles have proved a failure and that the inhabitants along that inhospitable shore are starving. The news came by way of St. Johns, N. F., a fishing schooner having put in there Thursday, bearing for the Government a petition from the inhabitants of Sandwich Bay stating that they were starving and imploring assistance before the winter sets in. The captain states that already snow has fatten or several occasions. Cod and mackerel seem to have vanished from the waters. The porgles fish have been so scarce that the oil factories have not been able to obtain sufficient to keep been able to obtain sufficient to keep them running, and have consequently closed up for the season, throwing out of employment a large number of persons. These have been living on what they could beg. Articles of food have long since reached such fabulous prices as to be entirely out of the reach of the poor. The supply of flour is entirely exhausted. Scurvy has made its appearance, and many have died from it. The suffering of the women and children beggars all description, the little ones dying in the arms of mothers who have no food to give them, and cold and exposure complete the list of woes. The news creates great excitement. The The news creates great excitement. The Government acted with promptness and hurried fuel and provisions on board a steamer which salled yesterday. Several ships will be necessary to meet the demand, as the famine extends along the antire coest.

IN THE SWEET BYE-AND-BYE. Type Setting Machine That Rivals the Keely Motor in Always Going to Go and Never Going.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6.-There was a meeting of prominent newspaper men in this city last week. The surpose of this meeting was not generally known These gentlemen have invested large sums in a type-setting mavested large sums in a type-setting machine. This machine was made in Baltimore, and has been upon the eve of so-called completion for a number of years. It was originally backed by John Claphane, one of the leading stenographers are. He organized a company, which was made up of nearly all of the official stenographers of Washington Their capital being limited, and the expericapital being limited, and the experi-ments of the invention not reaching suc-cess within a fixed period covered by their means, other investors have been taken in from time to time. Mr. Hutchins, the editor of the Washington Post, appeared to think well of the invention, and bought its stock during the second period of the increase of the company. It is understood that through his repre-sentations Whitelaw Ried, of the New York Tribune: Richard Smith, of the Cin-York Tribine: Richard Sinith, of the Chechmati Gazette: Mr. Haldeman, of the Louisville Coarier-Journal: William Henry Smith, of the New York Associated Press, and Mr. Stone, of the News of Chicago, have become investors. It a said that these last named gentlemen have invested in all $250,000 in the nave invested in all $200,000 in the stock, which two years ago was at fifteen. It is now said to be at sixty, but it is a question whether any block of the stock could be sold at that figure. It stock could be sold at that figure it has been claimed for this machine that it would do away with the composition entirely. With the keyboard of a type wilter any one capable of writing, this last named inachine would be able to set the matter up and stereotype as the same time the type required for the printing of a newspaper. The machine printing of a newspaper. has been inspected by a number of experts. It is very ingeneous and will undoubtedly be used in printing book work, circulars or in copying legal documents. But is a very serious question among the stockholders whether this machine will ever be sufficient to meet all the requirements of the modern newspaper publication office. The meeting of the newspaper people held here last week was for the purpose of considering the question the purpose of considering the question of whether the headquarters of the company should not be transferred to New York, and to further consider ways and means of raising money for further experimenting with this machine. There are a number of conflicting stories about the condition reached in the con-struction of this new invention. It is struction of this new invention. It is claimed by some of the gentlemen interested in it that it is now perfect and ready to be used. If this is true, this fact will be early disclosed, because the majority of the gentlemen interested in it have control of publication offices where ave control of publication offices where the use of this machine would certainly make a great sensation. It has been talained for several years that this invention would rival the telephone in the profits resulting from it, and the newspapers not in the company controlling it would be driven to severe loss from their inability to compete with the offices having it. It has been claimed that this machine would reduce the price of composition two-thirds. This invention has now been under way four years. Two years ago Abram S. Hewitt came very near invest-Abram S. Hewitt came very near invest-Abram S. Hewitt came very near investing in it, so as to secure the control, but his judgment, after investigating its merits, led him to withhold the investment. This invention has been the subject of a great deal of talk at Washingtoo. The principal inevstors in it seem to be perfectly confident that it is one of the greatest inventions of modern times, and that it will return a royal moome to its stockholders, while there are cold-blooded, cynical inhaded people who argue that it is the Keely motor over-again, and that, while the machine is very ingenious, it never can be made very ingenious, it never can be n practical for the use of newspapers. Her Husband Needed a Leason and She

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., October 6.—Mrs. Charles Helmerich, of Harrisburg, has been visiting some friends in this vicinity for several weeks, and she left her husband, who is a traveling man, at home to keep bachelor's hall. Helmerich is a man of about thirty-five years of age, rather good looking, and is said to be quite a favorite among the ladies. During his wife's absence he has been baving ing his wife's absence he has been baving a good time, and on Saturday afternoon he etarted from Harrisburg with a young woman, bound for Elmira. Some of Mrs. Helmerich's friends, who heard of what was taking place, sent her word that her husband was "off on a racket," and she came to this city. The train had no sooner come to a standstill than Mrs. Helmerich boarded the middle car greatly excited. Seated in the center of the car were her husband and the young car were her husband and the young woman, enjoying an animated conversa-tion. This scene riled the injured wife, and without giving the couple a mo-ment's warning she stepped up to the seat and commenced to box the woman's seat and commenced to box the woman's ears. The young woman, when she saw who it it was, jumped from her seat and hastily left the car, leaving Helmerich to settle matters with his wife. While the husband and wife were quarreling the train moved out of the station. The scene was enjoyed by the passengers. It could not be found out who the young woman was or where she went after she left the train. She was about twenty years old, of petite form, dark hair and jet black eyes, very pretty and vivacious. Serious Cutting Affray. H. A. Traughber and Eli S. Ulery manage the wagon yard at the corner of Water and Wood streets. Last night at 11 o'clock, just as Eli was getting into his buggy to go to his home, in Mt. Zion township, four young men under the inluence of liquor came to the open gate, and asked for a buggy to go to a house | Texas. of bad repute. They were refused. Emmet Allsman, one of the employes, started to close the gate, when the strangers interfered and struck him. Then Eli jumped out of his rig some distance off and came back, telling the young men to go away, that it was too late to let out a buggy. He turned to go back to his rig, when one of the men came up quickly and with a knife cut an ugly gash in his face extending from his lower lip in the orm of a half circle nearly to his right ear. The Ruite cut to the bone in two places. The assailants fied, and Eli, bleeding profusely, went to Dr. Cass Chenoweth to have the wound dressed. It took twenty live sti ches to sew up the out. Later Officers Hewes and Bailey arrested four men, and they were taken to young Ulery, who identified John Gibbens and John Murphy as the parties who assau'ted him. He marked Gibbens as the man who out him. Both are in jail. The grand jury is in session and will probably indict the prisoners for aseault to kill. They deserve a severe punishment. Mr. Ulery is at the Palace. He is able to be about. HYMENEAL.

Marriage of Mr. Roy Gipson and Miss Mamie Smith at 8 Last Evening.

It was a very large and a very pleasant party which assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Smith last evening to celebrate the nuptials of their daughter, Mary E. Smith, and Mr. Henry Elroy Gipson. The house was handsomely decorated, and in the front parlor was an arch of woodbine, from which was suspended a floral cornucopia, beneath which the bridal party stood during the coremony. The time fixed for the ceremony to take place was eight o'clock, and promptly at that hour the bridal party, to the strains of the wedding march, descended the stairway in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. W. A. Ludlow, of Chicago, and Will Henkle; the attend ants, Miss Ida Seib and Mr. Corwin Smith, of Chicago; the groom and Mrs Smith, and lastly the bride upon the arm of her father. Taking their positions be neath the arch the ceremony (the ring service being used) was pronounced by Rev. George Stevens, pastor of Stapp's Chapel, after which all present presse forward to offer congratulations, which were of the heartiest character. The bride was most elegantly costumed in a lemon colored surah silk, made in Elizabethan style, and trimmed with oriental lace, with long train and bridal veil-Oct. 1. To Bal.

The bride received a very large number of useful and valuable presents, which were displayed in one of the upper rooms, but by her special request the list was withheld from publication. Some of the more noticeable, however, were a very hands me eilver tea set from the groom mother and brother, and a very substan tial token in the shape of gold coin from his father. There was a splendid pescock fire screen from young gentlemen of De ontur; a full set of china and an elegent silk and fur dolman from the bride's brother, Corwin; a most charming brouze clock from her uncle, S. B. Winholtz, of Ohicago, besides a very large collection of silver, bronze and bisque mantel ornamente, china and Bohemian pieces, linen and silk goods, pictures, books, etc. It was a very elegant display indeed. Among the guests present from abroad were Miss Ida Seib, Mr. and Mrs. Petrie, Mr. A. J. Ludlow and Mr. Corwin Smith of Chicago; Miss Calhoun, of Blooming-and Miss Palmer, of Litchfield. Telegrams of congratulation were received from Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shellabarger, of Saline, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, of St. Louis, and letters from Mesers William, Owen and Abram Bremer and Dr. Willis, all of Metropolis, Ill. besides many others. .

At 10:30 the bride and groom departed for Cincinnati, and after visiting in that and other cities for a week or two wil return to take up their residence in Decatur. The bride has a host of friends who admire her for her many good and lady like qualities, and the groom, who is the junior partner of the firm of Lyon, Gipson & Co., and is deservedly popular among his circle of acquaintance, all of whom will join the REPUBLICAN in wishing long life and prosperity to the young PLANTING FRUIT TREES.

The Autumnal Selection of Young Trees to be Made as Early as Possible. Land-owners sometimes make the mistake of doing all their planting of fruit trees in a single season, supposing that no further care is necessary for long years to come. A part of these trees come into bearing in a few years, but vacancies are found in the succession for supply; some improvement is suggested in the selection, and years must clapse before these vacancies. made by omissions, or by occasional lead trees, can be supplied by bearing trees. The man who does not feel interest enough in fruit culture to make yearly or frequent additions to his assortment, and to inform himself relative to the best sorts, will never have anything better than an imperfect The period in the season is approach ing when selections are to be made for autumnal orders on the nurseries, and excellent opportunities are presented now, in the time of ripe fruits, to make additions to former liets. Better selections of trees may be had before the assortments of nurserymen are reduced by a whole season of autumn sales, and the trees, if not set out when received, are easily kept till spring by heeling-in—remembering the two precantions of filling in compactly with mellow earth every possible interstice among the mass of roots, and surrounding the

and clean earth, to exclude mice.

In purchasing trees do not make the mistake of selecting large trees from the nursery rows. These will be sure to have the roots more cut and mutilated than smaller ones. It will be more difficult to brace them against the wind. Small trees may be taken the wind. Small trees may be taken up with a smaller proportion of unnjured roots. They are more easily and perfectly set out. They cost less, in the first place: they are more easily packed in bundles or boxes, and are less liable to injury in transit; the less liable to injury in transit; the freight or express charges are less, and they are more readily trained into a proper shape at the beginning. With due care the smaller trees will be thrifty at the start, and will, in a few years, overtake the larger ones, which have been charled by removal. The

have been checked by removal. The difference between the crops, when they bear, will be handsome, thrifty, they bear, will be handsome thrifty, well-grown fruit on the one, and small fruit of second quality on the other. This will be the tendency, although there may be exceptions. To obtain the most satisfactory results, the best care must of course be given, and without care it would be better not to close after large or small. As the plant either large or small. As the terms large and small are indefinite, it may be well to state that apple, cherry and pear trees two years from the bud may succeed well if great care is taken to secure long roots in taking them up, and in shortening back the yearling shoots when setting out. The owner who makes frequent or yearly additions to his fruit grounds, even with only a few trees at a time. will acquire a knowledge of fruits and their management, and will not be liable to the impositions often reported. of extravagant prices and extravagant claims on the part of unreliable venders, and they will be able to discriminate between imposters on the one

Well-Managed Farm. A plentiful supply of pure water for stock, both in summer and winter, is one of the very essential necessities of the farm. A few dollars expended for the purpose of procuring a full supply at all times and in convenient places for stock to get it, is on of the best investments that can be made on the tarm. A quite small spring, if it be a constant one, will supply a large amount of stock, if it be rightly managed. Often a spring so small that it will not overflow its water sufficient to will not overflow its water sufficient to run a dozen rods away in summer, by boxing and laying pipes to save nearly all the water, may be found sufficient to supply the barns in winter and a pasture in summer. We have in mind a case where a small spring was struck in a side of a bill six a right foot form. in a side of a hill six or eight feet from the surface and the water conveyed to buildings through cement pipes, and from thence to a pasture affording a bountiful supply for all seasons, and that of cold, pure spring water, where before the only supply was from wells at home and born

t house and barn.
In some cases it might be practicable to build a reservoir or cistern, when the spring did not flow sufficiently to afford a full supply in summer droughts. and the overflow to be used ordinarily, drawing upon the reserve when the summer's supply became short.

When the spring is small it should be cleaned out and a clean box put in: or what would be better, if one was willing to be to the expense, to put in a stone or brick curbing laid in cement. This, fitted with a tight cover to exclude d.rt. flies, frogs, etc., would keep the water clean and free from any bad or unwholesome taint. From such a spring a very small pipe will convey a plenty of water to supply a large number of animals. Gas pipe is good for this purpose if there are no depressions to convey the water over, otherwise it is liable to soon till with rust. Lead pipe is now very cheap, and for water running continuously would not be objectionable. - Lewiston (Me.) Jour
